OUR STORY:

The Joe Beretta Foundation was established in 2016 when the Berettas, a local Mt. Juliet family, lost their husband/father to heart failure and learned the dire challenges most patients face.

THE NEED:

Only 4% of hospitals are able to treat advanced heart failure; because of this most patients must travel to receive care. The majority of patients are left stressed, scared, isolated and far from home.

BECAUSE WE BELIEVE NO ONE SHOULD SUFFER ALONE:

TJBF exists to meet the essential, non-medical needs of advanced heart failure patients, caregivers and their families by providing emergency housing, emotional support & stability in crisis.

THE COMMUNITY WE PROUDLY SERVE:

We currently serve advanced heart failure patients being treated in hospitals in both Nashville, TN & Pittsburgh, PA. The specific hospitals we serve include...

- Vanderbilt University Medical Center
- Tristar Centennial Medical Center
- Ascension Saint Thomas Hospital
- University of Pittsburgh Medical Center
- Highmark Allegheny Health Network

OUR IMPACT:

Since our inception in 2016, we've assisted 1,100+ individuals, provided over 2,500 nights of stay, provided over 1,200 gifts for inpatient families spending a holiday in the hospital and prevented 150+ families from facing the impossible choice between homelessness or hospice.

HOLIDAY GIFT PROGRAM:

For hospitalized patients and the people that love them, holidays are a stark reminder that even while your world falls apart, the rest of the world keeps spinning. To combat the thought that they're alone or forgotten, we provide gifts for inpatient families for Valentine's Day, Easter, Mother's Day, Father's Day, Thanksgiving, and all celebrations observed during the holiday season. We've seen these small gifts encourage patients to keep fighting, profoundly touch caregivers, and inspire families in so many beautiful ways. These gifts matter! Thank you for investing in us so we can touch families in the worst moments of their lives.
